eso® DATA EXPORTER

While ESO Insights provides a unified reporting experience to explore, analyze, and build custom dashboards, sometimes all you need is your raw data without visualizations. Located within ESO Insights, the Data Exporter Tool provides quick access to export your raw ESO data with none of the hassle, so you have the most current and relevant information to make decisions and improve community health and safety.
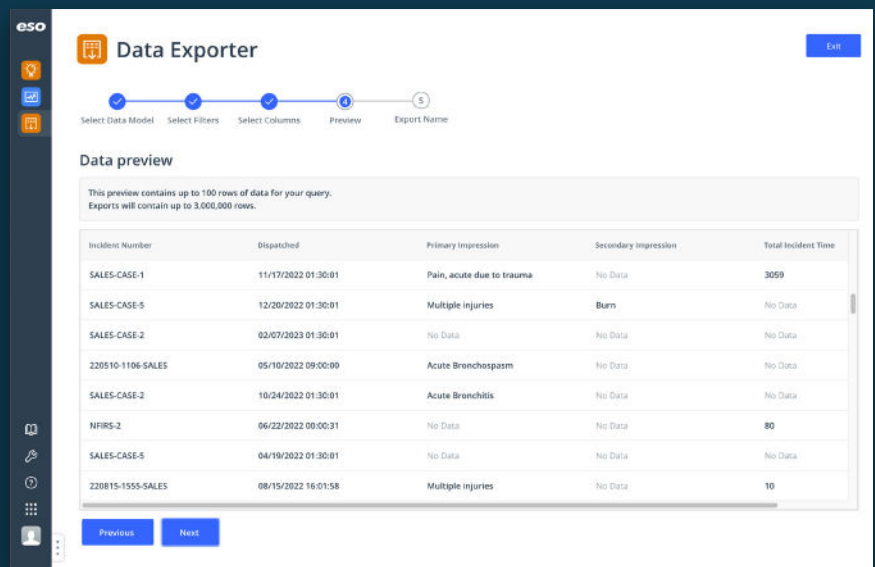

Made for:

FIRE	STATE

Download and extract multiple items.

Take your data and convert it to other sources. Create benchmarks, goals and more that are unique to your agency, or compare to other data standards.

Export the data you want, when you want.

With the ability to export up to 200 columns and 3 million rows of row-level data, the possibilities are endless. Choose what you want to review and easily export for additional data manipulation.

See and download extracts built by other members within your organization.

No need to worry about duplicating efforts or misplacing reports, here. Easily view data previously exported by any member of your team.

Multi-select and deselect data fields and/or tables in the extract builder.

Choosing what data to export, you can easily select the data you want. Refine your structure efficiently by choosing fields and deselecting fields with only a few clicks.

Queries are executed at the top of every hour in bulk for performance.

No need to worry if your data is current. With automatic updates happening every hour, you can rest assured that you have the most recent version of your query.

Schedule a CSV extract on a regular cadence.

If you have regular stats that you want to check or share with other members of your team, schedule the extract on a daily, weekly, or monthly basis. Don't miss an extract due to schedules or other variables again.
